Asian Community AIDS Services (ACAS) is a non-profit, charitable, community-based organization that provides sexual health education and support services to the East and Southeast Asian Canadian communities in Ontario.

We are seeking an individual who is passionate about contributing to research on HIV/AIDS, with a focus on men who have sex with men (MSM) in the East and Southeast Asian community.

Responsibilities

1. Assist in recruitment of survey participants and focus group participants
2. Co-facilitate two focus group interviews with the Research Coordinator
3. Transcribe the recorded focus group interviews
4. Assist in analyzing the qualitative data
5. Attend research team meetings

Qualifications

- Lived experience in the East and Southeast Asian MSM community
- A passion for community-based research with the HIV/AIDS community
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills
- Thorough understanding of ACAS' mission, HIV/AIDS stigma and discrimination, LGBTQ+ issues and sexual health
- Ability to work independently and as part of a team
- Willingness to work flexible hours on an as needed basis
- Computer skills: MS Office, Zoom
- Fluent in Mandarin or one of the East and Southeast Asian languages is an asset

Please note that this is a work-from-home position.
